MONTENEGRIN PORTS ON ADRIATIC FALL INTO AUSTRIAN HANDS

TWO GERMAN AIR RAIDS OVER COAST OF KENT AND TAKING OF FRENCH TRENCHES NEAR ARRAS AND IN ARGONNE FEA-TURES OF DAY'S FIGHTING.

British Forces in Mesopotamia Hampered by Bad Weather, but Many Minor Battles Being Fought with Heavy Loss of Life on Both Sides, Says Report.

By the Associated Press.

The Associated Press summarizes the war news as follows:

Two German air raids on the coast of England, the capture of Montenegro's two principal seaports by the Austrians and the taking by the Germans of trenches from the Frenchn ear Arras in the Argonne forest are told of in the latest official communications of London, Vienna and Berlin.

First one German aeroplane and twelve hours later two German seaplanes flew over and dropped bombs on the east coast of Kent. Nine bombs were dropped by the aeroplane. One man was killed and two men, one woman and three children were injured. Some damage was done to property.

The raid of the seaplanes was without effect, apparently, the London war office declaring that no damage was done and that no casualties had been reported. The aircraft in both instances escaued, although they were fired upon by the British guns and chased by British aviators.

Antivari and Dulcigno on the Adriatic coast of Montenegro have fallen into the hands of the Austrians, which leaves to King Nicholas only a few miles of front on the sea and gives to the Austrians command of the coast from the Gulf of Triest virtually to the

By the Associated Press.

Kansas City, Jan. 23.—A possible end to the delivery of beer by wagon in Kansas was forecast tonight by W. H. McCamish, assistant attorney general of Kansas, who announced in Kansas City, Kan., that breweries involved in court action over wagon deliveries from out-side the state had offered to plead guilty to pending contempt cases and agree to an ouster order against them.

A meeting will be held tomorrow in Topeka, Kan., at which representatives of the breweries and of the attorney general's office will discuss the proposed terms for settlement of the litigation.

If in the analogy begun, wealth is compared to a lever, and talent to the power, time is the fulcrum upon which it rests. Without it the lever and power are useless. If time is so important, is not its waste a great sin? Yet it is the world's greatest waste. Enough time is wasted in the average life to accomplish any task desired. One hour per day for ten years will complete a college course; the average man wastes enough time to accomplish five sollege courses. American independence ege courses. Besides having all the attributes of God in the Old Testament, Christ adds all the charming attributes of God in the Old Testament, Christ adds all the charming attributes that make men love Him. Christ did not establish himself on a throne of glory and from above watch the lives of men. He came into our common life. He attended the wedding in Gaillee; He raised the dead, conversed with the people in their homes. He came into the world, not separating Himself from the world, coming into your life, touching your life and my life intimately, patient with us when we are erring. He touched the old and He touched the young. He denied Himself of the comforts that He might have had. He did not deign to ride in the equipasses of the fire, to dine with them as He could have. He chose the poor to be His friends, to be closest to Him in this world. He did not complain, for life had meekness and moral courage, brayery of spirit. Think you not that men shall be held is not its waste a great sin? Yet it is the world's greatest waste. Enough time is wasted in the average life to accomplish any task desired. One hour per day for ten years will complete college course; the average man waste enough time to accomplish five col ege courses. American independence curned upon five minutes of wasted time, Washington crossed the Delaware and thus turned the tide of history while his opponent finished a game of cards, Every hour is big with destinies. In some of the northern cities the firefighting companies have been contesting thing companies have been contesting.

SYNOPSIS.

The story of "The Ragamuffin" starts with the birth of two children "the whole wide world apart," one in a swell house in Washington Square, the other in the slums of New York. We see them on their third birthday: Bob, the rich little boy, surrounded by the presence of love and care; Jennie, the poor little girl, stealing an apple from a fruit stand. We see them getting their education: Bob, under the care of a private tutor, and Jenny learning to read through stolen glances at the Police Gazette.

When they are grown up, Bob Van Dyke and his sister Beth, now orphaned, are caught in the wirl of a gay social life and are spending the fortune left them by their parents. Jenny, left alone in the world, has been adopted by Dugan, an old crook, who stands in the place of a father to her, and who makes use of her in his illegal calling.

The young cracksman, Kelly, suggests to Dugan that they burglarize a house in Washington Square by putting Jenny through the basement window and have her open the front door for them. Jenny is captured by Bob and is about to turn her over to the police, but in questioning her sees!
